W. M. Hancock.

William M. Hancock, aged 59 years, died at his home, 915 Van Ness avenue, Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock. He was a native of Alabama, but had made his home in Luling up to three months ago, when he came to this city. He is survived by the widow, three daughters, Mrs. E. F. Wilson of Luling, Mrs. H. B. Journey of San Antonio and Mrs. Irvin Frerichs of Hondo; one son, J. W. Hancock of this city, and one step-son, L. C. Hoenezer of Dallas. He also leaves two sisters, Miss Sallie Hancock of Hondo and Mrs. Emma Morris. The body will be shipped to Luling this morning at 11:30 o'clock, over the Southern Pacific Railroad by the Hagy & McCollum Undertaking Company. -San Antonio Express, March 21.

Mr. Hancock was long a resident of Medina county and enjoyed the friendship of a large number of our people. He married and reared his family here and made his home here up to about three years ago when he disposed of his holdings and moved to Luling.

The Anvil Herald extends sincere condolence to the afflicted family and trusts He who doeth all things well will comfort them in their great bereavement.

A. W. Hammett.

The Palmer Bros.' Wild Animal Show Exhibits at Hondo March 31. Two Performances.

A show that presents as principal actors wild animals who are really finished performers as well as all kinds of domestic animals who entertain in a finished manner is a very good way to sum up the truly wonderful show introduced this year by the Palmer Brothers, which plays Hondo March 31.

This mammoth organization introduces in its three rings every known breed of the domesticated animal as well as the most ferocious beasts of the jungles, all trained to a degree that, to say the least, is startling. Lions, tigers, leopards, pumas, jaguars, bears, elephants, camels appear throughout the program, while horses, ponies, monkeys, goats, dogs and all kinds of birds, including carrier pigeons, go through their stunts with an ease and grace that makes the show a finished performance.

The show travels in its own fully equipped trains and while it is not the largest, the favorable comments of both press and public have given it the right to be called the "World's Greatest Wild Animal Show." Carrying seats for thousands of people, its capacity has been strained at nearly every performance, which goes without saying "it must be good". Careful arrangement of seats, at all times, assures the spectators of a good view from any part of the huge tent. GRAND STREET PARADE AT 10:30.

Chicken Dinner at D'Hanis.

County Meet April 2nd.

Medina County was lucky last year, even if she had a mild form of Flu, for one of the most successful County Meets ever held in the whole State was held at Hondo. The Executive Committee of the Interscholastic League selected Hondo, the county seat, as the place where the Meet should be held this year and they decided that April 2nd should be the date.

The committee is to be complimented in the selection of the place where the Meet is to be held, as Hondo is centrally located, it is the county seat; and no better athletic field or auditorium could be found in the county than that at Hondo. The Hondo School has tendered its beautiful College Square and equipment for the use of the county, and every thing that can be done to make the people of the county comfortable while here at the Meet will be gladly done by the people of Hondo.

Every School in the county is urged to send participants to the County Meet no matter how small that school is. It behooves all progressive teachers to encourage their pupils to take part in the events or, if they refuse to take part in the events, they should be encouraged to attend and see what is done at the Meets. All teachers should attend themselves whether their pupils will take part or not for it is generally the fault of the teacher when the school is not represented.

People are asked to bring their lunches with them and make the day one of frolic and fun, as it is the greatest annual affair that is held. Every event will be free and the keys of the city will be turned over to the people of Medina county. The local Chamber of Commerce will finance the Meet in every way. Everything will be done to make the Meet the best held in the State of Texas this year.

All participants are urged to study the program and be at the place that event is to take place, for every event will start as stated on the program. A large number of programs will be printed and you are requested to get one and keep it. The committee desires that everyone be given a square deal, so you are requested to be present at the appointed time.

You will find below an official program of all events that shall be officially contested on that date. Please study it and come to the Meet with the intention of winning all of the medals and a few of the trophy cups.

Have you tried the "Federal Pure-food" article? They are put up in powder form, in small cans. Each kind make an excellent desert. There is CHOCOLATE, COCONUT and LEMON, either of which make delicious puddings, custards, pies, or nice cake filling. Each can will make about four average sized plate pies.
Another kind — "CERO-BUTTER" makes an article closely resembling apple butter in color and taste, and also may be made into plate pies or used for cake filling. It will make about 6lbs of apple butter to the can.
Next is "KRISPY KRUST" to make pie crust and other delicate and tasty pastries. Enough crust for 4 or 5 pies to the can. Each of these articles are A-1 in quality. J. T. Horger has taken the agency for these goods for the first 40 dozen cans, fresh from

ARE YOU A SLACKER?

The Chamber of Commerce has copied and distributed among the people of the town, the health hints published by the State Board of Health. They have proven that they want a clean and beautiful town; why don't you? Are you the one to lay down on the job and let the clean-up campaign be a failure?

Begin by cleaning and beautifying your own home. Perhaps if you do this you may influence your neighbor, and the whole town will be clean and beautiful. Devote some of your idle time to assisting in the clean-up campaign and you will not regret it after you see the results. If you can't assist in the clean-up campaign you can at least encourage it by telling others who can assist, and who will, if they have the right encouragement.

The school children have tried to beautify the school by cleaning the playgrounds and planting flowers in the window boxes. Are you going to let them get ahead of you? Surely, everyone wants his town to look tidy and beautiful, and since a plan has been formed by which it may be so, why not carry this plan out? This town is yours, make it worth living in and you will be the one to derive the benefits. Have you any pride? If so, prove it by joining in the clean-up campaign. If you haven't any, make the people believe you have by joining also.

Now is the time to begin! Do not put it off until tomorrow, but save tomorrow for something else. Today is the time to clean up and everyone is expected and urged to do so. Will you be the slacker?

DO IT NOW—IT'S THE BEST WAY.

All the world hates a slow person, a person who is always late in getting started, and consequently late in getting finished. So make it a point to be prompt if you wish to accomplish anything.

Do not mistake my meaning. I do not mean to tell you to rush thru things, doing them hastily and in a half way manner. Do things carefully but get them done by the time they should be done. There is always a difference between hastiness and promptness.

Some may ask where we can attain promptness as a trait of character. The answer is: RIGHT HERE IN SCHOOL.

Get your lessons promptly! When the teacher assigns a written lesson to be brought up at a particular time, bring it up at the specified time. Don't think, "Well, she'll give me another day." Do it promptly, and you won't need another day.

Can club activities and organizations encourage promptness? Certainly they can. In debating clubs or literary societies, you learn to bring up your part of the program on time. Some day you may be chairman of a committee. That will teach you to be prompt or else—well, you'd better be on the safe side.

The most important place in which promptness displays its value is in the business world.

If one should take time to enumerate on the advantages of the "do it now" spirit, he would be thinking about it all day and all night.

Sooner or later, we must all learn that great lesson: "It pays to do it now." So learn it sooner, not later.

They tell us to "make carefulness a habit," and to form a lot of other good habits, so why not make promptness a habit?

Try it, and you surely won't regret. —Exchange.

CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many a Hondo Household.
To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Hondo readers.
Mrs. P. H. Renken, tinsmith, Hondo, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have been used by others in my family with the best of results. My kidneys were disordered and acted irregularly. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and in this way I first became acquainted with their merits and started to use them. One box of Doan's entirely removed the trouble."
ALWAYS GETS GOOD RESULTS.
The above statement was given May 29, 1915, and on May 5, 1919, Mrs. Renken said: "I am just as firm a believer in Doan's Kidney Pills now as when I previously endorsed them. I use Doan's when my back or kidneys bother me and they always cure the attacks."
Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Renken had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

BASKET-BALL GIRLS TO BRING T. ELMORE LUCEY HERE.

The basket-ball girls have concluded a contract with the Davis Lyceum Bureau of Dallas, securing the services of T. Elmore Lucey for one evening. A guarantee of $50 was promised, and Mr. Lucey will appear here on Tuesday, April 26.

A fine entertainment is promised, as Mr. Lucey has a reputation as an impersonator, humorist, writer and crayon illustrator. He is an ex-poet laureate of Texas, and is the author of "Sammy," that widely read story of the late world war. He is an excellent speaker, and has had wide experience in this line, having been in the service of the Y. M. C. A. during the war and being one of the most popular speakers among the soldiers.

The girls' basket-ball team has taken control of the direction of the entertainment. It will sell the tickets to the performance and will receive all profits. The team, needing some help financially, has, instead of soliciting aid from the business men of the town, as is usually done, provided this method for securing aid.

The prices of admission have not as yet been fixed, but it is assured that these will be the popular prices. The town and community are expected to give much help in making this enterprise a success. The profit will be used in defraying the expenses of the team up to the present time and, if possible, to increase the equipment. A fuller announcement will be made later.

GIRLS RECEIVE MEMEN-TOES.

Friday afternoon, the members of the Basket-ball Team were presented by Mr. Howell, in the name of the school, beautiful miniature basket balls. The High School assembled in the study-hall, and Mr. Howell gave a talk on the team, showing the numerous feats accomplished by the girls, saying they had been defeated but once throughout the season.

Then the tokens of appreciation were presented to the following girls: Capt. Nora Schuehle (guard), Erna Leinweber (guard), Thelma White (guard), Lucille Holloway (guard), Willa Mae Gaines (running center), Ethel Hutzler (jumping center), Lucille Newton (running center), Jessie Blocker (forward), Sadie Earnest (forward), and Mrs. F. S. Cockrell (coach).

The basket balls are of sterling silver and have the High School initials engraved on one side, also the date. These charming souvenirs were presented to the girls who have shown the greatest consistency and interest in their work on the court, and to show the appreciation of the school for their faithfulness and sportsmanship.

SENIORS CELEBRATE.

After a week's planning the Seniors decided to have a second picnic at the same picturesque spot at which the first had been held—Castroville bridge. At four o'clock they were off with smiling faces and loaded cars.

After arriving at their destination, the first place of interest was the "waterfalls." Walking out on the "dam" as far as the water permitted, they settled down for snapshots. After the kodaks were tired from the numerous different antics of their subjects, the crowd began fishing for water-lilies. The cravings of the "femmes" being satisfied in this field, eyes were turned to the "Old Mill Stream."

Soon a camp-fire was burning brightly, and those who had met with accidents on the stones sat around drying out; some were attracted by the odor of boiling coffee.

Just as the moon began sending forth its silvery beams, the preparations for supper were completed and the Seniors and chaperones seated around the cloth kept time to the rippling brook. The only mishap was when the "cow" was lost and Mr. Newton was forced to search for it—finding it in the possession of Milton and Ethel.

After the dishes had been cleaned away, and the remains of the feast had been stored in different hiding places for the home trip, all gathered in a circle, with Lucille in the center, playing the ukulele; and with Mr. Martin leading the male voices in singing. Mr. Newton whistling, and the rest blending their voices to the notes of many old-time favorites. A full hour was spent in this way; and then Lucille struck up a lively note, which set all to romping and joking. With this epilogue to a perfect day, preparations for the home trip were begun, and when the clock struck ten the last carload left the spot where many happy hours had been spent.

Those who enjoyed the fun were: the Seniors, the chaperones, Messdames Harry Crouch and Chas. Schuehle, and Messrs. Howell, Newton, Mantor, and Martin.

THE United States Department of Labor has announced that unemployment of labor continues to increase. True, there was a decrease of only one per cent in February over January. But small as that percentage is, it was sufficient to account for a net decrease of 16,296 laborers out of 1,423 firms located in 65 of the principal industrial centers of the country. The iron and steel industries showed a decrease of 7.3 per cent, 6.6 per cent in railroad repair shops, 6 per cent in chemical plants, and 5.7 per cent in liquor and beverage producers. Although the situation is still discouraging and must continue to be so as long as unemployment is on the increase, there are some hopeful signs. Among those things that lend strength to the hope that conditions may soon take a turn for the better all along the line, is an increase in the number of employed in the manufacture of automobiles and land vehicles, textiles and leather products amounting to 18.8, 8.5 and 7.7 per cent respectively.

Nature's Way.

As a fond mother, when the day is over,
Leads by the hand her little child to bed,

And leaves his broken playthings on the floor,
Still gazing at them through the open door,

Not wholly reassured and comforted
By promises of others in their stead,
Which, though more splendid, may not please him more—

So Nature deals with us, and takes away
Our playthings one by one, and by the hand
Leads us to rest so gently that we go Scarce knowing if we wish to go or stay.

Being too full of sleep to understand How far the unknown transcends the what we know.
—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

NATURE is a good kind mother to us all; though she punishes us with an inexorable justice for our every misdeed, she has a healing balm for our every hurt and a solace for our every sorrow!

THE regular session of the 37th Legislature adjourned March 12th after having appropriated over four million dollars for various purposes. Notwithstanding it had appropriated so vast a sum, it adjourned without having made the regular appropriation for the maintenance of the State government for the next two years, and will be called back in the summer in extra session to perform this work.

WE have had a new National administration almost a month now. Yet we are still technically at war with Germany, and our soldier boys are still camped on the Rhine. We had hoped better things of an administration that won on the slogan of "America for Americans," and hope the wobbly waiting that got us into that European mix-up will not be continued so as to keep us in it. The war in Europe will be fought over again sooner or later, and the longer we tarry there the more liable are we to be involved again.

IN a comprehensive review of the cotton situation, Sir Charles W. Macara, an English economist, points out that, owing to the increased cost of production, 8 d (English money) a pound now for cotton is not equal to 4 d per pound to which cotton fell in 1914. In other words, on the basis of cost of production, cotton at the present price is below the lowest price mark of 1914. Viewing it from the standpoint of the spinner, which is England's chief interest in cotton, he sees danger ahead for the spinners, and hopes the proposal to reduce the cotton acreage 50 per cent will not be carried any further. Notwithstanding this hope, he admits that "It is obvious that no planter can afford to produce cotton at 8 d a pound in these days. If cotton proves to be an unremunerative crop, the planter will not continue to grow it." That the farmer has a tremendous advantage over the spinner in this matter is admitted in this, that "it must be borne in mind that while the cotton spinner and the cotton manufacturer can only spin and weave cotton, the planter may turn his land to a dozen other uses." And he adds: "His doing so in any large measure would mean, under normal conditions, a scarcity of the raw material such as obtained in the years before the war." Now we all remember what the effect of this scarcity of raw cotton, a repetition of which this Englishman so much fears, was—the highest price to the grower for his cotton known in years. And, to protect the spinners, he advises the buying up and storing of a reserve supply of cotton to be kept available for future use. The spinners are wise. And in their wisdom they are looking out for their interests first. If the cotton grower is equally wise, he, too, will look out for his own interest first. And looking out for his own interest first, he will produce only so much cotton as the spinners will buy from him at a price that will afford the producer a reasonable profit over its cost of production. He will maintain first his own "standard of comfort" before he takes care of the "standards" of others. The farmer does not owe it to any one to produce cotton at a loss in order that others may maintain a "standard of comfort"; he can not maintain his own, and do so. Therefore, if the cotton growers are wise they will do just what these English spinners are hoping they won't do—reduce the cotton acreage 50 per cent and turn their land to any one of "a dozen other uses."

Fletcherized Farm Facts

BY
FLETCHER DAVIS

In selecting crops to plant in place of cotton, the acreage of which must be reduced, unless the South wants to flirt with industrial disaster, the grain sorghums are worthy of consideration.

By grain sorghums is meant those varieties of the sorghum family represented by the kafirs and the milos. They are non-saccharine and are grown mainly for their grain. However, they produce a fair tonnage of forage of good quality, although not quite so desirable as is the forage from the saccharine or sweet sorghums.

The grain is about the equal of Indian corn in food value and can be used interchangeably with corn, either for human food or for stock feed.

Given this advantage, when it is considered that as a drought resister it is far superior to corn, often making a fair yield where corn fails and dries up, it will be readily seen that as a crop for the dryer sections of the state it should have precedence over corn. It is rapidly gaining the ascendancy over corn in some parts of the semi-arid area.

The plant is endowed by nature with the peculiar power of closing its breathing pores to a certain extent, thus transpiring a minimum amount of moisture and going into a semi-dormant, so to speak, state during times of drought. In this way it may withstand a protracted period of drought and, with returning showers, revive and produce fair yields, after less resistant plants have perished. This is what adapts it to semi-arid climates, and the characteristic has been, no doubt, bred into it during the ages it has grown under such conditions in its native home in the semi-arid regions of Africa.

Plants feed through their roots and breathe through countless numbers of tiny pores in their leaves. The essential plant foods are dissolved in the water in the soil. This water, freighted with its life-giving food elements, is absorbed by the plant's tiny roots and, in the form of sap, is carried to all parts of the plant. In the plant's leaves, where nature maintains a wonderful chemical laboratory, these elements come in contact with the gases of the atmosphere and the wonderful combinations of elements are formed, which build the plant's structure of roots, stem, leaf and fruit. Any condition of soil, weather, heat or light which interferes with this orderly system of Nature, interferes with the function of the plant, stunts its growth and depletes its yield.

By knowing these principles of plant growth, knowing the limitations of our soil and climate, and knowing the plants best adapted to an environment such as is afforded by the soil conditions and the climatic conditions on our own farm, we can the more intelligently select the crops best suited. The wise man will make such selection.

And speaking of plants that are drought-resistant, reminds that, during the unprecedented drought of several years duration a few years ago, a La Salle County farmer got a light rain—his first planting season of the year—April 21st. He planted his crops immediately following but did not get any more rain until September 21st, five months later. This was too much for Sudan grass and it withered and died. Even the milos failed to produce any grain and were cut for forage in an immature stage. But in that crop was an acreage of Spanish peanuts, and these hardy legumes remained alive through all that long period of drought, revived after the rain in September and, while they produced no merchantable nuts, in a few weeks he harvested a fair yield of forage from this crop.

While it is not recommended that peanuts be attempted on a commercial scale on anything but sandy land, they will grow on almost any soil. The nuts can be utilized in many ways for human food in the home, right on the farm where grown. And, though a little too rich in oil where a large quantity of nuts adhere to the vines, fed in moderation and judgment, the whole peanut plant (nuts and vines in reasonable proportions) comes nearer furnishing a balanced ration for live stock than any plant grown on the farm. Permit peanuts to do their part this year in helping to reduce the cotton acreage.

Peanuts belong to that family of plants known as legumes, the same family to which most, if not all, pod or bean bearing plants belong. In addition to feeding, breathing and growing as other plants do, as described above, the roots of most legumes are inhabited by living organisms called bacteria which attach themselves in countless numbers in nodules on the roots of the plants. These bacteria have the power of deriving nitrogen direct from the air and supplying it to the plant, in a kind of reciprocal exchange, so to speak, for the privilege of residing on the plant's roots. In this way they assist the plant in storing in its structure more nitrogen than it takes out of the soil, and if the residue of the legume crops is left on the soil to rot and become re-incorporated in the soil they will improve and build up soils that are deficient in nitrogen. Much of our Texas soil is sadly in need of this building up.

Owing, however, to the "clean" harvest necessarily attendant upon "digging" peanuts, they are less desirable for this purpose than the other legumes. Cowpeas almost everywhere where velvet beans wherever there is sufficient moisture. Tepary beans on the drier sections, and soy beans on the heavier soils where cowpeas are less well adapted are ideal soil builders and improvers as well as food and feed producers. Oh! there is plenty to do besides over-cropping to cotton!

COUNTY MEET TO BE HELD APRIL 2.

Last Saturday the Executive Committee of the Medina County Inter-scholastic League met at Devine to arrange all particulars of the County Meet.

After a long and heated discussion, it was decided that the Meet would be staged Saturday, April 2, at Hondo. The schedule of events will be officially announced later, but the events will be those that are common and prominent in any similar Meet. At the meeting they decided on the types of medals to be given the winners, on the admission prices and on other essential business responsible to them.

It is noticeable that girls' Rural School basketball, 220 low hurdles, and girls' races have been included on the program, while the Junior events were cut down to three in number.

Toward the close of the meeting Mr. Smith of Devine, Director General, resigned his office, and Mr. Newton of Hondo High was immediately elected to fill his place.

In some form, all of the facts of the meet will be given the various schools of the county. They are seriously urged to send large delegations to the Meet, for in that way only can it be a success. They will show their true spirit, their position, and their social and athletic attitude in making this Meet the biggest affair ever pulled off in Medina County.

Now this High School has the initiative to push this project to perfection. It wants to show the local people what it has, what it is capable of putting forth. So—the school expects the free-hearted support and backing of the business houses and the people of Hondo.

The Interscholastic Meet.

Next Saturday, April 2nd, 1921, will be a red letter day in the annals of Medina county schools, that day being designated as the date for the Annual School Meet.

Each recurring date of this Meet is looked forward to with greater interest by a larger number of the county schools, and it is confidently expected that next Saturday's Meet will be the most successful, both from the number of schools participating and the athletic and mental contests to be staged, ever conducted in this county.

These Meets should be encouraged,
not only by every teacher in the county
but by every good citizen as well.
The participants in these Meets today are the sturdy men and women of affairs tomorrow, and the bringing of them together in friendly contests, will beget a friendship and esteem that will endure throughout years to come and prove of immense advantage, in a social way, to every citizen of the county.

From early morning until late in the evening there will be "something doing" all the time and an enjoyable time is promised all who attend.

Read the official program printed in today's Anvil Herald and be on hand.
Your friends will be here, so come and mingle with them. For one day lay aside your business perplexities and give over the time to pleasure. You will feel the better for the relaxation,

H. W. BORING, a well-to-do Kansas Farmer, says he has gained twenty pounds and is in better general health than he has been in years, since taking Tanlac.

"Since Tanlac has overcome my troubles I have gained twenty pounds in weight and am in better general health than for years past," was the straight-forward statement made a few days ago by H. W. Boring, a prominent and well-to-do farmer living at Overland Park, Kans.

"During the two years I suffered I tried everything I knew of to get relief, but nothing seemed to reach my case until I tried Tanlac. My appetite was poor and my digestion was so bad I could hardly retain my food.
Nothing seemed to agree with me; in fact, I was almost a confirmed dyspep-tic. My whole system seemed to be out of shape. I would have pains across the small of my back so bad at times I could hardly move around.

"My nerves were all unstrung and I would become upset at the least little thing. I seldom slept well at night and finally, became so weak and rundown that I lost weight rapidly. I was also troubled a great deal with catarrh and of morning had to spend a half hour or more clearing up my head.

"This is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac and it certainly has been a blessing to me.
It just seemed to be made especially for my case. I improved from the first. My digestion now is perfect and regardless of what I eat I never suffer any bad after-effects.

"The pains across my back have entirely disappeared. The catarrh has left me, too, and my head is perfectly clear. I am no longer nervous and rest well at night. I have regained my lost weight and am feeling better and stronger than I have in years. I am going to keep Tanlac in my house
so it will be handy at all times."

Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H.
Windrow; in Castroville by Joseph Courand & Co.; and in Dunlay by Louis
A. Habv; and by all leading druggists.

Fun For The Children.

In the halcyon days of our childhood,
how our thoughts thrilled at the sight of the men as they pasted the bills announcing the coming of a big show.
For days before the eventful arrival of the train, how we stretched our imagination. What would be our chances of going? How promptly we answered mother or father when we were called, no matter how dillitory we had been previous to that. How we longed to sit upon the backs of the pretty ponies, to see the cute monkeys, to play with the big dogs, the bigger the better, in fact, to revel
in all those things so dear to childish hearts. Well, cheer up Kids, for the ambition of your daddy's life on circus day can be realized on circus day for the asking.

Palmer Bros. carry the largest groups of goats, dogs, monkeys, elephants and shetland ponies on the road with any show today and they will show in Hondo on Thursday, March 31.
